Yes, you can grow food in your Huerfano county yard! Mountain food growers Penn and Cord Parmenter are offering this class to help save people from believing they can't. Wind, hail, deer, bears, extreme temperatures, they've heard it all. The Parmenters have been growing organic food at 8,120 ft. for 17 years and their techniques and experiences apply to all Colorado's elevations and hardships. This is the first of three workshops on gardening topics that will be offered this spring by the following organizations:

Spanish Peaks Library District

La Veta Library District
